Facts and Fancies

By Frank Fairbairn

A short time ago I stated in these columns that the Globe hotel, in the Town of Collingwood was controlled by the temperance people and that Provincial Inspector Aycard had found a quantity of whiskey in the hotel.

This information I received from despatches sent out from Toronto, which were published in several newspapers, throughout the country.

I am now in receipt of a letter from Mr. H. Lamont, president of the Citizens' Temperance League of the Town of Collingwood, in which he emphatically denies both statements.

Mr. Lamont says that the temperance people did not purchase the Globe hotel, nor had they anything to do with the running of it directly or indirectly, nor had they formed a syndicate, nor had they anything to do with any hotel in Collingwood.

Mr. Lamont further states that Provincial Inspector Aycard did visit the Globe hotel, but found nothing illegal and had no charge against it whatever.

It has always been my object and will still be my object to publish, write and state the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, but the question is "How am I to get the truth?"

The despatch sent out from Toronto and published in many papers was apparently the truth, but Mr. Lamont emphatically denies it and at present writing I must take Mr. Lamont's word for it, as I have the statement over his own signature and must admit that present appearances are that the despatch was misleading.

The newest thing is Michael Joyce for Controller!

Michael was in GRIMSBY on Wednesday last and as soon as he got off the car, he made a bee line for the INDEPENDENT office.

When Michael entered the door he was arrayed in a pair of spotless white trousers, an Irish linen vest, a dark over-coat, and a nifty straw hat.

"Where's the boss?" says Michael.

"Here I am," says I.

"How do you do?" says Michael, "and you're looking well."

"Thank you," says I, "you're looking younger every day yourself."

"Come, have a cigar," says he, "I have something important to tell you."

"Thank you," says I, "it's just about my second smoke time."

After we had enjoyed a cigar each, out of a good sized tumbler, we strolled out on the street to enjoy the balmy air and chat about old times.

"Dye mold the time when you were running the Morning Post in Hamilton and I was a candidate for mayor?"

"Yes," says Michael, "and you had a narrow escape from being elected."

"Well and you're right," says Michael, "I had a good chance of being elected that time sure, but I pulled out and allowed Colonel Hendrie to get the honor."

"Listen to me," says Michael, "I'll tell you something. 'Dye know what my next move is?—for controller!'"

"By Jove!" says I, "that's your next move, Michael. Go to it and I'll back you."

"I will," says he, "and I think I'm a winner."

"Good on your head," says I, "Good-bye, may the Lord bless you."

"Good-bye," he says, "and though you are an Ulsterman and I am a Home Ruler, we will stick together till the last dog is hung."—Michael made for the trolley car and I returned to my labors.

By the way, Michael and I sprang some pretty fair jokes on some of the GRIMSBY boys when he was here.

I introduced him to H. K. Griffith and told Griffith that Michael handled a lot of real estate.

Griffith, who had an eye to business, says "Are you a real estate dealer?"

"Yes," says Michael, "I have handled more real estate (wid a shovel) than any man in the City of Hamilton."

Michael's a great Liberal but I judge from a word or so he dropped that he didn't vote for the Liberals this year.

I said to him "How did you like Abolish the Bar, Michael?"

"My oh my!" he replied, "wasn't it too bad for a foine man like Dr. Davy to get mixed up with that thing—the doctor should have had more sense than to hitch up with a dead one like that, and he's a nice man too."

War has started in Ireland but not in Ulster—Dublin is the scene of bloodshed.

It is strange that the Nationalists or Home Rulers in Ireland were the cause of the first bloodshed and the first clash with the British soldiers, instead of the Ulstermen.

On Sunday afternoon, July 28, there was a serious riot in Dublin, during which four people were shot to death and sixty wounded by the regulars, who were endeavoring to prevent the Nationalists or Home Rulers from gun running.

Early in the day one thousand Nationalist volunteers paraded and marched out of Dublin to a place called Howth, for the purpose of landing one thousand rifles.

The authorities sent a detachment of eighty policemen and one hundred men of the King's Own Scottish Borderers to stop the gun running and disarm the volunteers.

The volunteers resisted and a sharp fight ensued. Several persons were hurt by the clubs of the policemen and by rifle bullets and bullets.

Many of the volunteers fled and made their way back to the city through the fields carrying their rifles with them.

When word reached the city that there had been a fight, there was great excitement and the streets were filled with mobs.

As the soldiers passed through the streets the mobs pressed around them and threatened the soldiers with their revolvers.

The troops were ordered to fire a volley over the heads of the mob, which was done. The mob ignored this and then the soldiers fired a volley of ball cartridge into the crowd. A number of people dropped and there were shrieks of rage and pain, but the soldiers were allowed to proceed to their barracks unmolested.

Three men and one woman were shot dead and from thirty to sixty persons (mostly men) were wounded.

Thus we have the first war and bloodshed over the Home Rule Act in Dublin instead of Belfast.

While things are moving in Ireland they are also moving in Europe and Austria and Serbia are in the swirl of a war cloud which may plunge the whole continent into a struggle.

Despatches on Monday morning say that Austria has practically declared war on Serbia.

Should the two countries actually go to war Serbia will be backed by Russia, France and Great Britain Germany and Italy will back Austria.

With things in such an uncertain state in Europe, my advice to the British Government would be to let little Old Ireland alone.

The late President Huerta of Mexico has jumped out and taken his pockets full of money with him.

After he left Mexico things looked so much like peace that some of the politicians set about starting another revolution.

Mr. H. L. Harshaw suffered a slight but painful accident while on his way to Hamilton on Thursday last. He was going into the city in the 1.15 train and sat with his elbow resting on the window sill with his window open. When passing through the yards a freight train passed and some article or a car door struck him on the elbow, slightly cracking it.

The heavy rain and windstorm on Thursday morning last tied the H. Q. & B. up for a few hours. A big tree on the edge of the track at J. A. Pettit's blew over just as the 11.30 was passing and fell right on the car.

The roof was caved in but no one was injured. It is a shame that this accident should have happened, as the company's "high-class" cars should not be subjected to such hard blows. The wonder of it all is that the dirty old junk heap did not fall completely to pieces, when the tree toppled on it.

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

The members of this society have discontinued the weekly meetings and are holding monthly reunions in different parts of the town.

On Monday, June 22, Mrs. David Jackson kindly invited the society to hold their meeting on her lawn.

Rev. L. H. Currie, presided. The subject for discussion being "The Ministry of Music," which was introduced by Mr. Cullingford. An enjoyable musical programme followed, in which the following took part: Mrs. Ramsey Sims, Mrs. Gordon Moffatt, Mrs. Norman Walker, Miss Ada Jackson and Miss Violet Walker.

The serving of refreshments followed after which the young people spent a pleasant time with outdoor games in the moonlight.

On Monday last, by the kind invitation of Mrs. Murray Beamers, the young people visited her home on the mountains, being conveyed on drags, piloted by Mr. Jamieson. Mr. W. Gibson and Mr. Gordon Tenny. The meeting was held in the drawing room. Mr. Cullingford presided, as emcee, address on "Friendship" being delivered by Rev. L. H. Currie.

Those who contributed to the programme were: Pianoforte selections, Miss Vera Beamers, Miss Ada Jackson, violin solos, Mr. Wm. Gibson; songs, Miss Lillie Pettit and Mr. Cullingford. After partaking of refreshments the company joined in a hearty rendering of "Auld Lang Syne" and left for a pleasant ride home.

"FOUR NIGHTS OF GLADNESS"
The second annual open air festival under the auspices of St. Joseph's Church, GRIMSBY, will be held on the Church grounds, Paton St. N., on the afternoons and evenings of July 29, 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

The festival last year was the one big event of the season and this year's festival promises to eclipse the other one in every way.

To-night is the opening night and you want to go and have some fun and help along a good cause.

Orchestra will be in attendance every evening and dancing will be permitted and amusements and refreshments of all kinds will be provided.

A popularity contest between two beautiful young ladies is now being contested and the result will be announced on the last evening of the festival.

The musical programme will be augmented by assistance of several high class artists, consisting of: Miss Genevieve Kelly, Directress of St. Francis choir, Toronto; soprano; Miss Maud Collins, soprano; Miss Annie Connors, accompanist; Miss Annie MacDonald, elocutionist; Misses Rose Lee, Ethel Johnson, of Toronto.

A WINE MAY
There was a man, in our town,
And he was a woodman's wife;
He bought his wife a new silk gown
In way of a surprise.

He paid just $19.95,
He told his wife in sleep;
He looked at him in deep disgust,
"You'd have bought that dress down town
For $7.33.
Why don't you read the ads, my dear,
As really wise men do?"

To Serve With Salad
When you want something especially nice to serve with salad, mash a cake of cream cheese, season it with pepper and celery salt and add a little cream. It is so easy to make and spread the cheese on it, spreading it out like a pie crust. Cut it into squares, rather smaller than the crackers you are to use, and decorate each square with a bit of candied cherry, a nut meat, a seeded raisin and whatever else you may happen to have; then with a thin pliable knife lift each square on to a toothed cracker and serve with your salad.

John John Oilmartin and Mrs. Frank Vinall, of Brantford, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oilmartin.

All milk containing less than thirteen per cent. (13 per cent.) of total solids of which three and three-quarters per cent. (3.75) must be chemically dry butter fat, should be deemed below the standard required when the same is intended for human consumption.

Yet when the health of the children is considered, the amount of butter fat is secondary in importance to CLEANLINESS. Clean cows, clean milkers, clean stables, clean pails and cans (not rusty) clean strainers, etc., are indispensable. Otherwise the deaths of many children may be laid at the door of those who neglect these necessary precautions.

CLEANLINESS is also, and no less, obligatory on the part of the CONSUMERS. The best of milk may be ruined after it has been delivered in good condition to the consumer. Either keep the milk cool by ice or by wrapping the bottle or jug in wet flannel or double cheese cloth and place in a shallow vessel containing water. Evaporation will help to keep the milk cool; or pasteurize it first and then immediately cool it. Pasteurization can be performed by anyone. Heat the milk to a temperature of 150 degrees for half an hour, preferably in a rice boiler, then cool quickly and keep cool. (Not necessary to boil.) It is much safer for the child to have milk that has been pasteurized. Also cover the bottle or jug to keep out flies and dust.

A WESTERN ROMANCE
The play decided upon by the management for the last half of the week at the GRIMSBY Beach Auditorium, is one of the western mining country, and is a full of comedy as a sleve is full of holes.

The name of the bill is "A Western Romance" and it has a "Punch" in it that will fairly stagger you.

The comedy is of the rarest kind and gives that irresistibly funny man, Eddie Black, great scope for his famous "Country Kid" stunt.

Mr. Black will be seen at his best in the fun-making by Miss Burdell. You do not want to miss seeing this bill in this bill.

The rest of the company have good strong parts and from the appearance of things at rehearsals, this bill will be the funniest and best yet produced at the beach.

The production of "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" will be a dandy and besides the regular company will carry with it an amateur of local fame who thinks he can act, but can't.

After splitting the brains all summer around the Auditorium about his wonderful ability before the lights, he has at last got a chance to show what he can do.

The management of the company got tired listening to this wonderful speech, Barrett, so they gave him a chance and then he wanted to back down, but they held him to it and he was game so in "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" he will be given a chance to spoil the show, which he will, undoubtedly, do.

We will tell you next week who the budding "star" is.

"A FETE IN FLOWER LAND"
On Friday and Saturday nights of next week The Kitchener-Bocher Stock Co. will be away from the Auditorium and their place will be taken by a grand production in the form of an Operetta, entitled "A Fete in Flower Land" by an amateur cast under the direction of Miss Bertha Adams.

Miss Adams has produced operettas of a like nature at the beach before and this alone is sufficient to make the big house at both performances.

About one hundred and fifty local people and children make up the cast and you are assured of an excellent evening's entertainment. The costumes are beautiful, the music is catchy and the singing and dancing are exceptional for a local cast.

The theme of the Operetta is as follows:

Fairy of the Flowers arrives early in the spring and, after having portals to visit her "fair and fragrant flower land," notices that no flowers have awakened from their winter's sleep.

She bids her subjects come and make merry for her visitors. Snowdrops, rudely awakened, have no time to put on their festive robes, and appear as they have been sleeping all winter and sing "Just Waking Up."

Fairy turns her attention to Violets, who burst forth a all the sweetness and fragrance for which they are famed.

After listening to Violets, the little Daisies and Daisies respond, but no flowers fail to appear and are afterwards reprimanded by Fairy for not listening to their apologies for not obeying. Fairy is at last pacified.

Roses also arrive and contribute to the entertainment. Fairy, at last being tired, is lulled to sleep by the lullaby of the Poppies, who arrive in time "to drop sweet dreams for every one."

Fairy is at last startled and sleep by the departure of Broom, and, being about to take her own departure, notices Sweet-Peas listening about the garden, and bids them appear. They appear, and sing "Farewell to Summer."

November arrives with all its Thanksgiving splendor, followed by winter. Flowers awaken in winter and are awakened by Fairy. The play closes with a good tableau and chorus.

"DYNAMITE" DILLON SAYS CANADA HAS REAL PRISON

Atlantic City, N. J., July 25.—Here is a man—a Philadelphia man at that—who was so long shut up in a virtual tomb that when he emerged into daylight, ten days ago, he was an utter stranger in a strange world that blazed with wonders to his unaccustomed eyes. Like a bandaged of the magicians. This man is Luke Dillon, who was paroled from the Portsmouth penitentiary in Canada on July 12, after fourteen years of dungeon life for complicity in the dynamiting of the Welland canal, in Ontario in 1900. Such was the degree of his isolation since his sentence to life imprisonment that the first he did after being liberated was to send a friendly telegram to a man who had been dead for nine years.

In fourteen years Dillon was allowed to address only two persons, the prison chaplain and the guard at his cell. He had never heard of the wireless or of flying machines. The loneliest hour in all the fourteen years, Dillon said, was when he was lost on the Atlantic City boardwalk, searching for his wife whom he hadn't seen since the day of his sentence.

"I was to meet my wife at a hotel here," said Dillon. "I sent her a telegram. When I got there I found that the hotel had been torn down, so I had nothing to do but walk about and look for her in the crowds. I knew she'd come. I found her at last, though we both had changed and we had to do the finding between us."

"I had my first ride in an automobile that day, and they are queer things. The man just kicked something under his foot and the thing went wherever he wanted it to. I'd heard of the moving pictures. Do you mind the old Punch and Judy shows? Well, I thought they'd be like that. I was sitting in the place waiting for the lights to be turned on. Think of that! And then, all at once I saw the thing flash up at the end of the room and it looked like a lot of grey smoke. It wasn't what I expected to see at all."

"I'd never seen a subway till the gentleman at Broad Street station told me to go in it to get to the ferry. 'Down the steps,' said he. 'A railroad under the ground!' says I. 'Sure,' said he, 'where are you from that you don't know of it?' I didn't say ought to that, but went in and along comes the train. I held my hands to my ears. It was a painful uproar after all the stillness that I'd been through."

"Here in Atlantic City I saw a man flying up in a machine—right in the face of the sun. It is a wonderful age, a wonderful age. But why don't they train their reason and why can't they be wise in other things as well? Tell me that."

Prison a Tiny Hell
"For a time after my imprisonment," Dillon said, "I thought of suicide. They have real penitentiaries in Canada—they make them as near like tiny bells as they can, so that men who have been there won't want to go back."

"I didn't see a newspaper in all the fourteen years, nor did I see a knife or fork. I ate all my meals in my own cell and I was compelled to eat them with a spoon. Speech among the prisoners is forbidden."

"They first put me to work piling bricks," said Dillon, "but later, when they found I was trained in a bank, they put me to clerking. I begged for a change from that, because it gave me too much time to think. I had seven years of it."

"Five years ago they put me in the shoe shop cutting leather and I learned that trade pretty thoroughly."

Sympathizers to Canada really are cured Dillon's parole, he said. "The Canadians are intensely sensitive about any interference from this side of the border," said Dillon, "and any suggestion of aid from this side would probably have done me more harm than good. That doesn't lessen the gratitude I feel towards a few friends of mine in this country who tried to do what they could in my behalf. All I wish now is a little peace and a chance to get acquainted with the changed conditions. I shall try to make my peace openly in society and to forget bygones."

YOUNG FARMER KILLED

A fatal accident occurred at the home of Mr. Archibald Quance, a mile and a half south of Elfrida, in the Township of Blenheim, Friday evening, about 6 o'clock. Mr. Quance was engaged with two men unloading wheat into his barn by means of a rock lifter. He was on a beam with a fork, trying to steer the load clear of some beams when he became caught between the load and one of the beams. He was instantly killed—death coming so suddenly that he did not utter a sound. One of the hired men was in the mow and saw the trouble almost immediately, but could do nothing. Deceased was held so fast that the two men could not release him and had to send for Mr. Wm. Quance, father of the deceased, on the next farm, to help them. Dr. Bethune, the latter of this city, who was visiting near by, hastily summoned, but could do nothing. The facts were so apparent that it was not deemed necessary to hold an inquest. Mr. Quance was 27 years of age, and owned and worked the farm where the accident occurred, but lived with his parents on the adjoining farm. He was building a house on his own farm and was to have been married this coming fall. He also leaves two brothers, Samuel and Richard, and one sister, Miss Edna, all at home.

Deceased was a highly promising young man, of quiet, but studious nature, an excellent public speaker and highly thought of by all. Great sympathy is extended to the family, which has suffered very great trials recently, including losses by fire, accidents to stock and accidental death of members.

BOY SCOUTS OF ONTARIO

Will bid farewell to their Chief Scout at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. An event that is eagerly looked forward to by the boys of the Boy Scouts is the rally at the Canadian National Exhibition.

This year's event promises to eclipse all previous records and great things are planned. The rally will take place on Saturday, September 5, and will be in the form of a grand farewell to His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Chief Scout for Canada.

Arrangements are being made to give those who attend a good time. The boys will be camped upon the grounds of the Exhibition and nothing will be spared to make each boy comfortable. There will also be given a grand illuminated pageant of floats showing the various activities of this great Boys Welfare Movement.

It is hoped that every district in the Province will be represented at this, the greatest boy event yet held in Canada. The main object is to get the boys and districts to know one another along the lines as laid down in the training of a Boy Scout. In other words, to cement still further that bond of good-comradeship that exists throughout the organization.

Further information will be forwarded from the Provincial Office, Sherbourne & Bloor Sts., Toronto. Any questions will be answered upon application to the Secretary.

HINTS AND RECIPES FOR LADIES

Fruit Cake
One pound of sugar, 1 pound of butter, 1 pound of flour, 3 pounds of raisins, 1 pound of citron, 10 eggs, 10 cups of molasses, large teaspoonful soda and sorts of spices. Bake four hours in a moderate oven, or steam four hours, closely covered, and bake one to dry off. This makes two large loaves.

Coffee Cake
Four pounds of flour, 3 pounds of butter, 3 pounds of sugar, 4 pounds of currants, 2 pounds of raisins, 1 pound of citron, 24 eggs, 3 nutmegs, 1 ounce mace, 1 pint molasses and 1 teaspoonful of soda. Bake or steam as above.

Coffee Cake
One cupful of pork, chopped sufficiently to be creamed with sugar, 1½ cupful of brown sugar, 1 cupful of molasses, 1 cupful of strong coffee, 1 pound of raisins, chopped, one pound of currants, ½ pound of citron and 1 teaspoonful of soda dissolved in coffee.

Cream Cake
One cupful of sugar, 1 cupful of sweet cream, 2½ cupful of flour, 2 cupful of cream tartar and 1 of soda sifted in flour and a little salt, flavor to taste.

Cocunut Cake
One cupful of coconut, (Metropolitan), soaked one night in a cup of sweet cream, 1 cupful of sugar, 2 cupful of flour, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoonful cream tartar and 1 of soda sifted in flour and a little salt.

For the benefit of novices in house keeping, I will say, always line the bottom of your baking tin with paper; and you will rarely have a mouldy or buried cake. I prefer clean, brown paper such as the dry goods dealers use.

Russian Salad
To make it, season apple jelly with lemon juice, paprika, salt and pepper enough to give it a sharp flavor, then pour into a wet mold. When it is firm, decorate it with pickled beets, string beans, bits of pickled onions and sliced pineapple. Add a layer of peas, chopped nuts and dried chicken then cover with another layer of the seasoned jelly. Let it stand before serving until it has become quite hard. Another way to make this is to stir all the ingredients into the apple jelly before it hardens, then cut it in slices, which cold and serve with a sharp salad dressing.

Another nice dish that is not very common is

Dole Fasting
To make it mix 1 cupful of pitted dates and 1 cupful of quartered walnuts, sprinkling a little flour over them. Now stir together 1 cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, 2 eggs, 1 heaping teaspoonful of flour. Add the dates and nuts, and mix well, then let it bake for three-quarters of an hour in a slow oven and serve with sweetened cream.

My niece, knowing how I like to try new recipes, begged the following from a lady near her, who is noted for her good cooking.

There is an acknowledged standard weight of copper. Our Seven-Strand Cable is a very heavy rod. Prof. Day, in his bulletin 220, says of it: "No. 6 has about 1½ times the standard amount of copper and is unquestionably the best of the six copper rods. Its resistance is lowest, meaning it is the best conductor. Its heat capacity is highest, its durability greatest." To which we can add nothing beyond recommending its use. —Send for our Catalog
